

August/September 1996

$3.95

TABLEAUX

The Northwest Magazine of Home Design Excellence

*Northwest
Vacation Retreats*

BULK RATE
U.S. POSTAGE
PAID
MULTIPLE MEDIA

Paradise with a view

For some, paradise may be a simple mountain cabin next to a gently rippling stream in the Cascade foothills. For others, life comes close to perfection with an elegantly appointed weekend retreat above a rocky cliff in the San Juan Islands.

With a spectacular array of get-away locales just hours from the Seattle metropolitan area, it's no surprise that vacation homes pose an increasingly attractive option for so many.

If that growing market takes direction from current trends, it will envelop the natural synergy between lifestyle, environment and design that can create a unique and idyllic retreat.

Nice Places in Small Spaces
Page 28

What's New in Vacation Home Decor?
Page 31

Elegance on the Water
Page 32

The interesting wave effect on the bathroom wall of the triangle house pictured on page 26 reflects where the old concrete from the pump house meets the new.

Tom Wolfe